Author index

Achilladelis, B., A. Schwarzkopf and M. Cines, The dynamics of technological innovation: The case of the chemical industry 19 (1990) 1
Amendola, G., The diffusion of synthetic materials in the automobile industry: Towards a major breakthrough? 19 (1990) 485
Amendola, M. and S. Bruno, The behaviour of the innovative firm: Relations to the environment 19 (1990) 419
Bally, Y.W., see Spangenberg 19 (1990) 239
Barras, R., Interactive innovation in financial and business services: The vanguard of the service revolution 19 (1990) 215
Berman, E.M., The economic impact of industry-funded university R&D 19 (1990) 349
Bhanich Supapol, A., The commercialization of government-sponsored technologies: Canadian evidence 19 (1990) 369
Breemhaar, B., see Spangenberg 19 (1990) 239
Brown, M.A., The cost of commercializing energy inventions 19 (1990) 147
Bruno, S., see Amendola 19 (1990) 419
Chakrabarti, A.K., Innovation and productivity: An analysis of the chemical, textiles and machinetool industries in the U.S. 19 (1990) 257
Cines, M., see Achilladelis 19 (1990) 1
Cordero, R., The measurement of innovation performance in the firm: An overview 19 (1990) 185
Courtial, J.P., see Turner 19 (1990) 467
Czerwon, H.-J., see Englisch 19 (1990) 477
Davidson Frame, J. and F. Narin, The United States, Japan and the changing technological balance 19 (1990) 447
Debackere, K., see Van Dierdonck 19 (1990) 551
Engelen, B., see Van Dierdonck 19 (1990) 551
Englisch, H. and H.-J. Czerwon, Quantification of the performance of research units: A simple mathematical model 19 (1990) 477
Feller, I., Universities as engines of R&D-based economic growth: They think they can 19 (1990) 335
Foray, D. and A. Grübler, Morphological analysis, diffusion and lock-out of technologies: Ferrous casting in France and the FRG 19 (1990) 535
Gómez, I., E. Sanz and A. Méndez, Utility of bibliometric analysis for research policy: A case study of Spanish research in neuroscience 19 (1990) 457
Granstrand O. and S. Sjölander, Managing innovation in multi-technology corporations 19 (1990) 35
Grübler, A., see Foray 19 (1990) 535
Habermeier, K.F., Product use and product improvement 19 (1990) 271
Howells, J., The location and organisation of research and development: New horizons 19 (1990) 133
Israeli, A., see Zif 19 (1990) 435
Kleinknecht, A. and B. Verspagen, Demand and innovation: Schmookler re-examined 19 (1990) 387
Lichtenberg, F.R., Issues in measuring industrial R&D 19 (1990) 157

Research Policy 19 (1990) 567–568
North-Holland

0048-7333/90/$3.50

© 1990 – Elsevier Science Publishers B.V. (North-Holland)

Luukkonen, T. and B. Ståhle, Quality evaluations in the management of basic and applied research 19 (1990) 357
Mansell, R., Rethinking the telecommunication infrastructure: The new "black box" 19 (1990) 501
McCarthy, D., see Zif 19 (1990) 435
Méndez, A., see Gomez 19 (1990) 457
Meyers, P.W., Non-linear learning in large technological firms: Period four implies chaos 19 (1990) 97
Michelet, B., see Turner 19 (1990) 467
Moed, H.F., see Van Vianen 19 (1990) 61
Molina, A.H., Transputers and transputer-based parallel computers: Sociotechnical constituencies and the build-up of British–European capabilities in information technologies 19 (1990) 309
Narin, F., see Davidson Frame 19 (1990) 447
Nederhof, A.J., Between accommodation and orchestration: The implementation of the science policy priority for biotechnology in the Netherlands 19 (1990) 379
Nelson, R.R., U.S. technological leadership: Where did it come from and where did it go? 19 (1990) 117
Nelson, R.R., Capitalism as an engine of progress 19 (1990) 193
Nijhuis, F.J.N., see Spangenberg 19 (1990) 239
Prins, A.A.M., Behind the scenes of performance: Performance, practice and management in medical research 19 (1990) 517
Reddy, N.M. and L. Zhao, International technology transfer: A review 19 (1990) 285
Rosenberg, N., Why do firms do basic research (with their own money)? 19 (1990) 165
Sanz, E., see Gomez 19 (1990) 457
Schwarzkopf, A., see Achilladelis 19 (1990) 1
Sjölander, S., see Granstrand 19 (1990) 35
Spangenberg, J.F.A., R. Starmans, Y.W. Bally, B. Breemhaar, F.J.N. Nijhuis and C.A.F. van Dorp, Prediction of scientific performance in clinical medicine 19 (1990) 239
Ståhle, B., see Luukkonen 19 (1990) 357
Starmans, R., see Spangenberg 19 (1990) 239
Turner, W.A., B. Michelet and J.P. Courtial, Scientific and Technological Information Banks for the network management of research 19 (1990) 467
Vanderwerf, P.A., Product tying and innovation in U.S. wire preparation equipment 19 (1990) 83
Van Dierdonck, R., K. Debackere and B. Engelen, University–industry relationships: How does the Belgian academic community feel about it? 19 (1990) 551
Van Dorp, C.A.F., see Spangenberg 19 (1990) 239
Van Raan, A.F.J., see Van Vianen 19 (1990) 61
Van Vianen, B.G., H.F. Moed and A.F.J. van Raan, An exploration of the science base of recent technology 19 (1990) 61
Verspagen, B., see Kleinknecht 19 (1990) 387
Von Hippel, E., Task partitioning: An innovation process variable 19 (1990) 407
Wortmann, M., Multinationals and internationalization of R&D: New developments in German companies 19 (1990) 175
Zhao, L., see Reddy 19 (1990) 285
Zif, J., D. McCarthy and A. Israeli, Characteristics of business with high R&D investment 19 (1990) 435

Subject index

Government

Nelson, R.R., U.S. technological leadership: Where did it come from and where did it go? 117
Brown, M.A., The cost of commercializing energy inventions 147
Lichtenberg, F.R., Issues in measuring industrial R&D 157
Rosenberg, N., Why do firms do basic research (with their own money)? 165
Nelson, R.R., Capitalism as an engine of progress 193
Chakrabarti, A.K., Innovation and productivity: An analysis of the chemical, textiles and machine tool industries in the U.S. 257
Reddy, N.M. and L. Zhao, International technology transfer: A review 285
Molina, A.H., Transputers and transputer-based parallel computers: Sociotechnical constituencies and the build-up of British–European capabilities in information technologies 309
Berman, E.M., The economic impact of industry-funded university R&D 349
Bhanich Supapol, A., The commercialization of government-sponsored technologies: Canadian evidence 369
Nederhof, A.J., Between accommodation and orchestration: The implementation of the science policy priority for biotechnology in the Netherlands 379
Gómez, I., E. Sanz and A. Méndez, Utility of bibliometric analysis for research policy: A case study of Spanish research in neuroscience 457
Turner, W.A., B. Michelet and J.P. Courtial, Scientific and Technological Information Banks for the network management of research 467
Mansell, R., Rethinking the telecommunication infrastructure: The new "black box" 501

Industry

Achilladelis, B., A. Schwarzkopf and M. Cines, The dynamics of technological innovation: The case of the chemical industry 1
Granstrand O. and S. Sjölander, Managing innovation in multi-technology corporations 35
Van Vianen, B.G., H.F. Moed and A.F.J. van Raan, An exploration of the science base of recent technology 61
Vanderwerf, P.A., Product tying and innovation in U.S. wire preparation equipment 83
Meyers, P.W., Non-linear learning in large technological firms: Period four implies chaos 97
Nelson, R.R., U.S. technological leadership: Where did it come from and where did it go? 117
Howells, J., The location and organisation of research and development: New horizons 133
Brown, M.A., The cost of commercializing energy inventions 147
Lichtenberg, F.R., Issues in measuring industrial R&D 157
Rosenberg, N., Why do firms do basic research (with their own money)? 165
Wortmann, M., Multinationals and internationalization of R&D: New developments in German companies 175
Nelson, R.R., Capitalism as an engine of progress 193
Chakrabarti, A.K.., Innovation and productivity: An analysis of the chemical, textiles and machine tool industries in the U.S. 257

Research Policy 19 (1990) 569–574
North-Holland

0048-7333/90/$3.50 © 1990 – Elsevier Science Publishers B.V. (North-Holland)

Habermeier, K.F., Product use and product improvement 271
Reddy, N.M. and L. Zhao, International technology transfer: A review 285
Molina, A.H., Transputers and transputer-based parallel computers: Sociotechnical constituencies and the build-up of British–European capabilities in information technologies 309
Feller, I., Universities as engines of R&D-based economic growth: They think they can 335
Bhanich Supapol, A., The commercialization of government-sponsored technologies: Canadian evidence 369
Nederhof, A.J., Between accommodation and orchestration: The implementation of the science policy priority for biotechnology in the Netherlands 379
Kleinknecht, A. and B. Verspagen, Demand and innovation: Schmookler re-examined 387
Von Hippel, E., Task partitioning: An innovation process variable 407
Amendola, M. and S. Bruno, The behaviour of the innovative firm: Relations to the environment 419
Zif, J., D. McCarthy and A. Israeli, Characteristics of businesses with high R&D investment 435
Davidson Frame, J. and F. Narin, The United States, Japan and the changing technological balance 447
Gómez, I., E. Sanz and A. Méndez, Utility of bibliometric analysis for research policy: A case study of Spanish research in neuroscience 457
Amendola, G., The diffusion of synthetic materials in the automobile industry: Towards a major breakthrough? 485
Foray, D. and A. Grübler, Morphological analysis, diffusion and lock-out of technologies: Ferrous casting in France and the FRG 535
Van Dierdonck, R., K. Debackere and B. Engelen, University–industry relationships: How does the Belgian academic community feel about it? 551

Services

Barras, R., Interactive innovation in financial and business services: The vanguard of the service revolution 215
Mansell, R., Rethinking the telecommunication infrastructure: The new "black box" 501

Universities and basic research

Achilladelis, B., A. Schwarzkopf and M. Cines, The dynamics of technological innovation: The case of the chemical industry 1
Van Vianen, B.G., H.F. Moed and A.F.J. van Raan, An exploration of the science base of recent technology 61
Nelson, R.R., U.S. technological leadership: Where did it come from and where did it go? 117
Rosenberg, N., Why do firms do basic research (with their own money)? 165
Nelson, R.R., Capitalism as an engine of progress 193
Spangenberg, J.F.A., R. Starmans, Y.W. Bally, B. Breemhaar, F.J.N. Nijhuis and C.A.F. van Dorp, Prediction of scientific performance in clinical medicine 239
Molina, A.H., Transputers and transputer-based parallel computers: Sociotechnical constituencies and the build-up of British–European capabilities in information technologies 309
Feller, I., Universities as engines of R&D-based economic growth: They think they can 335
Berman, E.M., The economic impact of industry-funded university R&D 349
Luukkonen, T. and B. Ståhle, Quality evaluations in the management of basic and applied research 357

Nederhof, A.J., Between accommodation and orchestration: The implementation of the science policy priority for biotechnology in the Netherlands 379
Gómez, I., E. Sanz and A. Méndez, Utility of bibliometric analysis for research policy: A case study of Spanish research in neuroscience 457
Turner, W.A., B. Michelet and J.P. Courtial, Scientific and Technological Information Banks for the network management of research 467
Prins, A.A.M., Behind the scenes of performance: Performance, practice and management in medical research 517
Van Dierdonck, R., K. Debackere and B. Engelen, University–industry relationships: How does the Belgian academic community feel about it? 551

Management and planning

Achilladelis, B., A. Schwarzkopf and M. Cines, The dynamics of technological innovation: The case of the chemical industry 1
Granstrand O. and S. Sjölander, Managing innovation in multi-technology corporations 35
Vanderwerf, P.A., Product tying and innovation in U.S. wire preparation equipment 83
Meyers, P.W., Non-linear learning in large technological firms: Period four implies chaos 97
Howells, J., The location and organisation of research and development: New horizons 133
Rosenberg, N., Why do firms do basic research (with their own money)? 165
Wortmann, M., Multinationals and internationalization of R&D: New developments in German companies 175
Habermeier, K.F., Product use and product improvement 271
Molina, A.H., Transputers and transputer-based parallel computers: Sociotechnical constituencies and the build-up of British–European capabilities in information technologies 309
Nederhof, A.J., Between accommodation and orchestration: The implementation of the science policy priority for biotechnology in the Netherlands 379
Von Hippel, E., Task partitioning: An innovation process variable 407
Amendola, M. and S. Bruno, The behaviour of the innovative film: Relations to the environment 419
Zif, J., D. McCarthy and A. Israeli, Characteristics of businesses with high R&D investment 435
Davidson Frame, J. and F. Narin, The United States, Japan and the changing technological balance 447
Turner, W.A., B. Michelet and J.P. Courtial, Scientific and Technological Information Banks for the network management of research 467
Englisch, H. and H.-J. Czerwon, Quantification of the performance of research units: A simple mathematical model 477
Amendola, G., The diffusion of synthetic materials in the automobile industry: Towards a major breakthrough? 485
Mansell, R., Rethinking the telecommunication infrastructure: The new "black box" 501
Prins, A.A.M., Behind the scenes of performance: Performance, practice and management in medical research 517

Measurement an evaluation

Achilladelis, B., A. Schwartzkopf and M. Cines, The dynamics of technological innovation: The case of the chemical industry 1
Brown, M.A., The cost of commercializing energy inventions 147
Lichtenberg, F.R., Issues in measuring industrial R&D 157

Spangenberg, J.F.A., R. Starmans, Y.W. Bally, B. Breemhaar, F.J.N. Nijhuis and C.A.F. van Dorp, Prediction of scientific performance in clinical medicine 239
Feller, I., Universities as engines of R&D-based economic growth: They think they can 335
Berman, E.M., The economic impact of industry-funded university R&D 349
Luukkonen, T. and B. Ståhle, Quality evaluations in the management of basic and applied research 357
Bhanich Supapol, A., The commercialization of government-sponsored technologies: Canadian evidence 369
Kleinknecht, A. and B. Verspagen, Demand and innovation: Schmookler re-examined 387
Amendola, M. and S. Bruno, The behaviour of the innovative firm: Relations to the environment 419
Zif, J., D. McCarthy and A. Israeli, Characteristics of businesses with high R&D investment 435
Davidson Frame, J. and F. Narin, The United States, Japan and the changing technological balance 447
Gómez, I., E. Sanz and A. Méndez, Utility of bibliometric analysis for research policy: A case study of Spanish research in neuroscience 457
Turner, W.A., B. Michelet and J.P. Courtial, Scientific and Technological Information Banks for the network management of research 467
Englisch, H. and H.-J. Czerwon, Quantification of the performance of research units: A simple mathematical model 477
Prins, A.A.M., Behind the scenes of performance: Performance, practice and management in medical research 517
Foray, D. and A. Grübler, Morphological analysis, diffusion and lock-out of technologies: Ferrous casting in France and the FRG 535

Countries

Belgium

Van Dierdonck, R., K. Debackere and B. Engelen, University–industry relationships: How does the Belgian academic community feel about it? 551

Canada

Bhanich Supapol, A., The commercialization of government-sponsored technologies: Canadian evidence 369

Denmark

Luukkonen, T. and B. Ståhle, Quality evaluations in the management of basic and applied research 357

Europe

Molina, A.H., Transputers and transputer-based parallel computers: Sociotechnical constituencies and the build-up of British-European capabilities in information technologies 309

Finland

Luukkonen, T. and B. Ståhle, Quality evaluations in the management of basic and applied research 357

France

Turner, W.A., B. Michelet and J.P. Courtial, Scientific and Technological Information Banks for the network management of research 467
Foray, D. and A. Grübler, Morphological analysis, diffusion and lock-out of technologies: Ferrous casting in France and the FRG 535

Germany

Wortmann, M., Multinationals and internationalization of R&D: New developments in German companies 175
Foray, D. and A. Grübler, Morphological analysis, diffusion and lock-out of technologies: Ferrous casting in France and the FRG 535

Japan

Davidson Frame, J. and F. Narin, The United States, Japan and the changing technological balance 447

The Netherlands

Van Vianen, B.G., H.F. Moed and A.F.J. van Raan, An exploration of the science base of recent technology 61
Spangenberg, J.F.A., R. Starmans, Y.W. Bally, B. Breemhaar, F.J.N. Nijhuis and C.A.F. van Dorp, Prediction of scientific performance in clinical medicine 239
Nederhof, A.J., Between accommodation and orchestration: The implementation of the science policy priority for biotechnology in the Netherlands 379
Kleinknecht, A. and B. Verspagen, Demand and innovation: Schmookler re-examined 387
Prins, A.A.M., Behind the scenes of performance: Performance, practice and management in medical research 517

Norway

Luukkonen, T. and B. Ståhle, Quality evaluations in the management of basic and applied research 357

Spain

Gómez, I., E. Sanz and A. Méndez, Utility of bibliometric analysis for research policy: A case study of Spanish research in neuroscience 457

Sweden

Granstrand O. and S. Sjölander, Managing innovation in multi-technology corporations 35
Luukkonen, T. and B. Ståhle, Quality evaluations in the management of basic and applied research 357

U.K.

Howells, J., The location and organisation of research and development: New horizons 133
Barras, R., Interactive innovation in financial and business services: The vanguard of the service revolution 215

U.S.A.

Vanderwerf, P.A., Product tying and innovation in U.S. wire preparation equipment 83
Meyers, P.W., Non-linear learning in large technological firms: Period four implies chaos 97
Nelson, R.R., U.S. technological leadership: Where did it come from and where did it go? 117
Brown, M.A., The cost of commercializing energy inventions 147
Lichtenberg, F.R., Issues in measuring industrial R&D 157
Rosenberg, N., Why do firms do basic research (with their own money)? 165
Chakrabarti, A.K., Innovation and productivity: An analysis of the chemical, textiles and machine tool industries in the U.S. 257
Feller, I., Universities as engines of R&D-based economic growth: They think they can 335
Berman, E.M., The economic impact of industry-funded university R&D 349
Kleinknecht, A. and B. Verspagen, Demand and innovation: Schmookler re-examined 387
Von Hippel, E., Task partitioning: An innovation process variable 407
Zif, J., D. McCarthy and A. Israeli, Characteristics of businesses with high R&D investment 435
Davidson Frame, J. and F. Narin, The United States, Japan and the changing technological balance 447